DOMESTIC SERVICES

Use these ‘FAQ’s’ as a guide. Then, let REA Coaches be the experts.

1.

WHEN...

Q: WHEN should we begin services: My spouse/partner does not want to begin looking for employment until AFTER we relocate. Should we wait to begin this service until then?

A: “Not necessarily. While the services are delivered on your spouse’s/partner’s time schedule, it is usually best to begin the services as early as possible, then put the services on hold until ready to begin the job search. In this way, the consultant can gain an understanding of the spouse’s/partner’s background and career goals, begin to develop an appropriate resume and resources, and prepare the spouse/partner to hit the ground running when ready to start the search.”

WHAT IF...

Q: WHAT IF my spouse/partner is returning to the workforce after an extended absence?

A: “REA’s coaching can help your spouse/partner feel more comfortable and confident when trying to re-enter the workforce. The Career Assessment component of the program would be especially beneficial in providing guidance for both short-term and long-term career planning.”

Q: WHAT IF my spouse/partner will be looking for part-time work? OR

Since my spouse/partner is in a specialized career field, can this service still be of assistance?

A: “REA’s Coaches assist with job searches aimed at Full-Time or Part-Time positions. They have experience assisting with all career fields, at all levels. Your spouse/partner can speak with them to learn more about their experience and services.”

Q: WHAT IF my spouse/partner is interested in furthering his/her education? Can this service provide assistance?

A: “Yes, REA can help assess appropriate programs/curricula (i.e. undergraduate or graduate programs, technical schools, community colleges, etc.) with a focus towards ultimate career goals. REA can also help the spouse/partner explore interim or part-time employment while attending school.”

Q: WHAT IF my spouse/partner is considering self-employment or interested in exploring entrepreneurial opportunities in the new location?

A: “There are services designed to provide direction and guidance for those seeking to start a business, explore home-based opportunities, develop a consulting practice or transfer/buy an existing business.”
